

Hello! I am the 2007 Miss Callaway County Fair Queen. I am honored to hold this title. The experience I had competing in the contest is not comparable to any other. Many girls showed up to vie for the title of Miss Callaway County Fair Queen. The contest included preparing a talent, conducting an interview, and modeling an evening gown. The competition was especially fun because of the wonderfully nice girls that were competing against me.

After the fair I had to fulfill my duties by attending the fair; which is not a hard job to do considering how fun the fair is! While at the fair I got to announce activities during the drag race. That was very exhilarating seeing all of the people in the stands. I even got to help with the baby contest! That too is a very easy job watching adorable babies walk around. Other than working during the fair I also did my fair share of riding rides and eating cotton candy! As always my fair experience was a good one. The excitement was just increased of having the honor to represent Callaway County at such a great event!

Another part of my duty was to represent Callaway County in the 2007 Missouri State Fair. I gladly took the opportunity and began to prepare for the fair. The state fair was much harder than the county one. The competition was greater and the events were harder. Like the county fair, the contestants were required to interview, model, and perform a talent. The interview was a round robin system, having only two minutes with each judge in order to prove to them that you deserved the opportunity to represent the State more than the others. Over all though the experience was a blast, it definitely makes you appreciate those who carry the title, because they deserve it!

I would like to thank everyone who helped in giving me the opportunity to represent Callaway County. It was a learning experience as well as a very good time.

Thank You,
Abby Langworthy
2007 Miss Callaway County Fair Queen